Annual Giant Garage Sale set for May 25-26

Basement, attic and garage all full? Storage shed bursting at the seams? Wondering what to do with so much wonderful stuff? You're in luck! Our annual CCHS Giant Garage Sale Extravaganza is set for May 25 and 26 at the Champaign County Fairgrounds, and we're in need of your castoffs to help our furry castoffs.

The sale starts at 7 a.m., Friday, May 25, closing at 6 p.m. The fun begins again at 8 a.m. on Saturday, May 26. The sale closes at 12:45 p.m., and then re-opens at 1 p.m. for the Bag Sale, which goes until 3 p.m.

Donations of new and used items are welcome. We cannot accept large appliances (such as washing machines), large furniture (such as sofas) and old computers, which are generally not saleable. Retailers are welcome to donate unwanted stock from their inventories.

All donations will be accepted at Kesler Hall during the following times only:

- Thursday, May 17 Noon to 7 p.m.
- Friday, May 18 Noon to 7 p.m.
- Saturday, May 19 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- Sunday, May 20 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
- Monday, May 21 Noon to 7 p.m.
- Tuesday, May 22 Noon to 7 p.m.

If you are interested in volunteering, contact Ann by e-mail at Ann@cuhumane.org or phone at 344-7297.

Fluffy? Where are you!?!

You don't leave home without identification, so why would your pet?

In celebration of Tag Week, April 1-7, CCHS asks all pet owners to tag their pets. Tags may include traditional ID tags, microchips or any other device that will help us reunite lost pets with their families.

Tracking down a lost pet can be one of the most difficult and stressful situations a pet owner can face, yet thousands of animals arrive at the humane society each year without ID tags. It can be difficult for an owner to track down a lost pet. We encourage pet owners to file a Lost Pet report at the shelter and they can place signs and take out ads in the newspaper. It is also important for missing pets' owners to visit the shelter to look at the stray animals. It can be very difficult for shelter staff to identify a missing pet when the description is "black cat, yellow eyes," or "brown dog, no collar."

While most people think it will never happen to them, losing a pet is a common occurrence. Here at the humane society we take in nearly 3,000 lost pets each year, and only about 25 percent are "found" by their owners. The number of returned pets could greatly increase if these pets had collars with identification.

"Nothing is more sad than to see a well-treated stray – obviously someone's pet – come in to the shelter without ID," said Stephen J. Notaro, CCHS executive director. "Our goal is to get these pets back home where they belong."

For more information on microchipping or Tag Week, please call us at (217) 344-7297.

From the Director's Desk...

At the Champaign County Humane Society, we now have one of the best records in the country for saving homeless pets. Your support has been what has saved the pets by allowing us to have a veterinarian on staff. We also offer seven-day-a-week adoptions, an award-winning Web site with valuable information, dog training and other educational programs. Despite our strong record, we are constantly searching for ways to save even more homeless pets.

Our most recent effort is a program to help dogs find a new home. It is called People helping Dogs, or the PhD program. Here is why we developed this program. We noticed that many of the medium to large dogs had to wait a long time to be adopted. Our adopters told us it wasn't as much the size or breed of the dog that mattered, they simply wanted a nice dog. Here was the problem. Our dogs are very nice, but because they are young dogs, they are very excitable. We turned to some of the top shelters in the nation along with dog experts and trainers for advice. From their advice, we decided to begin a Canine College program, teaching our dogs prior to adoption to show that they are not only nice, but also very smart. The dogs responded wonderfully and seem eager for the training sessions with our staff and volunteers. But we wondered would teaching dogs "sit," "off," to take treats softly, and to walk nice on a leash help them get adopted? Our answer came quickly. In the program's first month, 10 dogs like Millie and Beau now live in new homes because they graduated from Canine College and earned their PhDs. To become one of our People helping Dogs volunteers, see the article on page 9 in this issue of Pawprints.

Anytime you support the CCHS with a donation, or by attending an event, you are helping a homeless pet. The volunteers at our Giant Garage Sale have worked hard over the years to raise more funds. These funds help save our pets. By donating goods, volunteering or purchasing items at the garage sale you are also helping a homeless pet. Our Kitten Shower in June is one of the largest kitten and cat adoption events in the country. Not only does this event get pets adopted, it also raises funds and supplies to care for more pets. By attending an event, making a donation, adopting a pet, or volunteering you enable us to care for more pets. Let's join together to save more homeless pets now than ever before. ■ SN Calico, Tabby and Siamese – Oh my!

CCHS hosts sixth annual Kitten Shower

Warmer weather, green grass and blooming flowers are all sure signs of spring, but at CCHS, spring brings an increased number of unwanted cats and kittens.

More than 75 cats and kittens will be at this year's Kitten Shower to be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, June 16, at Lincoln Square Mall in Urbana. All of these cuddly kitties hope to find a new home during this special event.

The Kitten Shower serves as an annual summer adoption event for our cats and kittens. The shower also gives the public a fun way to donate needed items. The kittens make a special wish list every year of needed goods that could be contributed. They even hope to have a few presents to open because sometimes people wrap their donations!

Every year, the Kitten Shower becomes increasingly popular and continues to place more and more kittens and cats into loving homes. Thanks to the generosity of the community, volunteers and CCHS staff and to the big hearts of the adopters, the Kitten Shower is always an enormous success.

Please contact Ann at 344-7297 if you would like to help with this fun event, or if you'd like more information. •

2001: A Spay Odyssey was a great success locally

The Champaign County Humane Society's fifth annual Spay Week blasted off on Feb. 26 and was a great success.

2001: A Spay Odyssey," sponsored by the Humane Society and the Doris Day Foundation, marks a new millennium of compassion.

Thirteen area veterinarians participated in this year's event by offering a 25 percent discount on spay or neuter surgeries during this special week. In the past five years, more than 1,000 cats and dogs have been spayed or neutered during this event.

A big Thank You to the following veterinary

Sales of home-made biscuits benefits CCHS

Many thanks to Mutters Dog Biscuits for its thoughtful contribution to the Champaign County Humane Society.

Locally owned Mutters Dog Biscuits (<http://www.mutters.net>) offers specialty canine treats including Peanut Cookies, Carob-Covered
Peanut Cookies, Sun-Dried Tomato
Cookies, Pill Popping Pumpkin
Muffins, Cheese Cookies, Pie
Crust Cookies and Banana Biscotti.

Mutters are sold in two sizes, regular (approx. weight,
1/2 lb.), $3/bag, and large (approx. weight, 1 lb.), $5/bag.
They're available for purchase at Nally, Haasis & Bauer
P.C., 41 E. University Ave., Champaign, IL, 61820, (2nd floor), or by contacting Deb at 359-1000 or dffeinen@nhb-law.com.

Your purchase benefits CCHS as Mutters donates a portion of its profits to benefit the shelter animals. •

"Mutters are absolutely the best. If our two Labradors liked them any more, I could teach them to do algebra with them."

—John S. Rogers, Champaign

"My rating for Mutter's Dog Biscuits ... Two Paws Up!!
When I first tried these biscuits I just couldn't believe the difference! Freshly baked with no preservatives and incredibly good flavor. My absolute favorite is the pink heart-shaped biscuit with the biscotti coming in a very close second. I'm always a very good dog but I am especially good when I know a Mutters cookie is involved. For my fellow pups out there ... if your parents haven't brought Mutters home for you yet then make sure they read this! Not only are these cookies delicious, but they're good for us, too! Only fresh ingredients are used and only ingredients that are good for us. Please try some today! You don't know what you're missing."

A Fetching Ball

A masquerade dinner and auction to benefit the homeless pets at the Champaign County Humane Society

Many thanks to the volunteers and participants who helped raise more than $25,000 at our first Fetching Ball on Oct. 27 at Hawthorne Suites.

The inaugural event featured a dinner and masquerade ball, as well as a silent auction, a live auction and a raffle.

Canine College comes to Champaign County

The PhD (People helping Dogs) program kicked off at the shelter in mid-January, and the results have been nothing short of stellar. The program pairs volunteers with canines who need a helping paw learning basic obedience. Using positive techniques, volunteers teach basic commands such as “sit,” “off,” how to take treats gently and how to walk nicely on a leash.

“The program is great because it teaches dogs the basic skills they need to make a smooth transition into a home,” said Stephen J. Notaro, CCHS executive director. “New owners’ faces light up when their newly adopted dog sits on command in the shelter’s lobby.”

Pam Lowrey, volunteer and PhD coordinator, says that 10 dogs have “graduated” from the program by being adopted in the past month and six more are currently enrolled in “class.”

Our goal for the PhD program is to have enough volunteer help to have every shelter canine enrolled in school while they wait to be adopted.

If you would like to help with this or any other volunteer activity, please contact Pam at Pam@cuhumane.org or 344-9314. •

Living with your allergies ... and your pets

One thing to know about being a pet owner is that it is never easy. While pets bring joy and companionship to our lives on a daily basis, they also require training, veterinary care, time, love, attention and even tolerance. And that tolerance is especially necessary when a pet owner is allergic to his or her companion animal.

Studies show that approximately 15 percent of the population is allergic to dogs or cats. An estimated one-third of persons in the United States allergic to cats (about 2 million people) live with at least one cat in their household anyway. In a study of 341 adults who were allergic to cats or dogs and had been advised by their physicians to give up their pets, only one out of five did. What's more, 122 of them obtained another pet after a previous pet had died. It's clear that the benefits of pet companionship outweigh the drawbacks of pet allergies for many pet owners. Living comfortably with a companion animal despite being allergic to him requires a good understanding of the allergic condition and adherence to a few rules.

All cats and dogs are allergenic (allergy-causing) to people who are allergic to animals. Cats tend to be more allergenic than dogs for most allergic people, although some people are more sensitive to dogs than cats. Contrary to popular belief, there are no "non-allergenic" breeds of dogs or cats; even hairless breeds of dogs and cats may be highly allergenic. Dogs with soft, constantly growing hair – the poodle or the bichon frise, for example – may be less irritating to some individuals, although this may be because they are bathed and groomed more frequently. One dog or cat of a particular breed may be more irritating to an individual allergy sufferer than another animal of that same breed.

The source of irritation to pet-allergic humans? Glands in the animal's skin secrete tiny allergy-triggering proteins, called allergens, that linger in the animal's fur but also float easily in the air. Allergens are present in the animal's saliva and urine, too, and may become airborne when saliva dries on the fur. The severity of reaction to these allergens varies from one person to the next, ranging from mild sniffing and sneezing to life-threatening asthma, and can be complicated by simultaneous allergies to other irritants in the allergy sufferer's environment.

If your or a family member's allergies are simply miserable, but not life-threatening, take these steps to reduce the symptoms. To begin with, create an "allergy free" zone in the home – preferably the bedroom – and strictly prohibit the pet's access to it. Use a high-efficiency HEPA air cleaner (available at almost any home and garden store or discount department store) in the bedroom. Consider using impermeable covers for the mattress and pillow because allergen particles brought into the room on clothes and other objects can accumulate in them.

Use HEPA air cleaners throughout the rest of the home, and avoid dust-and-dander-catching furnishings such as cloth curtains and blinds and carpeted floors. Clean frequently and thoroughly to remove dust and dander, washing articles such as couch covers and pillows, curtains and pet beds. Use a "microfilter" bag in the vacuum cleaner to effectively catch all the allergens you vacuum up.

Bathing your pet on a weekly basis can reduce the level of allergens on fur by as much as 84 percent. Although products are available that claim to reduce pet allergens when sprayed on the animal's fur, studies show they are less effective than a weekly bath. Even cats can become accustomed to being bathed; check with your veterinarian's staff or a good book on pet care for directions about how to do this properly, and use whatever shampoo your veterinarian recommends as best for your pet.

Don't be quick to blame the family pet for allergies. Ask your allergist to specifically test for allergies to pet dander, rather than making an assumption. And understand that allergies are cumulative. Many allergy sufferers are sensitive to more than one allergen. So if you're allergic to dust, insecticides, pollen, cigarette smoke, and cat dander, you'll need to reduce the overall allergen level in your environment by concentrating on all of the causes, not just the pet allergy. For example, you may need to step up measures to remove cat dander from your home and carefully avoid cigarette smoke during spring, when it is difficult to avoid exposure to pollen.

Immunotherapy (allergy shots) can improve symptoms but cannot eliminate them entirely. They work by gradually desensitizing a person's immune system to the pet allergens. Allergy-causing proteins are injected under the person's skin, triggering the body to produce antibodies (protective proteins) that block the pet allergen from causing a reaction. Patients are usually given one dose per week for a few weeks to months (depending on the severity of their allergy) and then can often manage with one injection per month.

Additional treatments for allergies to pets are symptomatic, including steroidal and antihistamine nose sprays and antihistamine pills. For asthma, there are multiple medications, sprays and inhalers available. It is important to find an allergist who understands your commitment to living with your pet. A combination of approaches – medical control of symptoms, good housecleaning methods, and immunotherapy – is most likely to succeed in allowing an allergic person to live with pets.

Of course, if you do not currently have a pet and are considering one, and know you are pet-allergic, be sure to consider carefully whether you can live with the allergy before you bring a new pet home. Except in the case of children, who sometimes outgrow allergies, few allergy sufferers become accustomed to pets to whom they are allergic. Too many allergic pet owners obtain pets without thinking through the difficulties of living with them. And too often they end up relinquishing pets, a decision that is difficult for the owner and can be life-threatening for the pet. Pets deserve lifelong homes.
